Culture in Saarbrücken: Where art meets the heart

A young man and woman are smiling and embracing each other. The woman is wearing a black and white patterned dress and a black watch. The man is wearing a light blue shirt. They are sitting in front of a large, colorful geometric art installation made of many small, multi-colored triangles. The background is slightly blurred, showing greenery and a building.

FROM THE BIG STAGE TO SMALLER-SCALE PERFORMING ARTS – LONG LIVE DIVERSITY!

A small, square portrait of a historical figure, likely a composer or artist, with a powdered wig and a dark coat.

A BAROQUE CASTLE AND URBAN ART, symphony concerts and open stage, artists' studios and museums, up-and-coming film talent and blockbusters – culture is alive and well in Saarbrücken. Historical witnesses and artists from our region and the whole world meet in the heart of this pleasant and friendly city.

Discovering sights

Ludwig's Church

Saarbrücken is a lively city at the sunny centre of Europe. Savoir-vivre, enjoyment and a zest for life meet at the border between Germany and France. The people of Saarbrücken are cosmopolitan, approachable and just love going out. There are many excellent places to eat in the city – from street food to award-winning gourmet restaurants. Everybody gets to discover their own special place quickly in this city of short distances, whether it's in the urban Nauwieser Viertel, at the Staden park on the river Saar or at Sankt Johanner Markt, the centre of the pedestrianised historic old town.

We are also a shopping city which boasts one of the TOP 10 shopping streets in Germany.

The cultural landscape of Saarbrücken offers an extraordinary diversity. Enjoy urban life at the Osthafen (East Docks) or film premièrés at the Max Ophüls Film Festival, marvel at the Urban Art Walk and meet other music lovers for a dashing evening performance by the German Radio Philharmonic Orchestra. Whether State Theatre or youth theatre, museums, galleries, festivals, night life and scene culture: Saarbrücken offers a range of high-quality cultural activities to suit every taste. There are also several superb historical buildings in the city. The most famous of all is probably the Baroque Protestant Ludwigskirche (Ludwig's Church), the Saarbrücker Schloss (Saarbrücken Castle) and the Alte Brücke (Old Bridge).

Our city is part of an industrial region whose fascinating history can be experienced at the Völklinger Hütte (World Cultural Heritage Site Völklinger Ironworks) or at the visitor's mine at Velsen.

Saarbrücken is the greenest state capital in Germany. Whether hiking in extensive mixed forests, cycling along the Saar, exploring a primeval forest or floating across a biosphere landscape in a hot-air balloon – nature invites you to an unforgettable experience. And if you're into more action and excitement, you might prefer to fly through the treetops with the Zipline or check out the skatepark in the Bürgerpark.

And if you still haven't had enough? We recommend a visit to our zoo, wildlife park or the Calypso Waterpark and Sauna. Both children and adults love the Alpaca Farm, the indoor playgrounds and our large outdoor swimming pools.

If you like organised events, you will always find something to do in Saarbrücken. Don't miss our major summer events or our Christmas Market in winter.

We are a multicultural city: people from 150 different nations live here, creating interesting spaces with individual flair. We belong to a region with a turbulent history. From the Celts and Romans to the wars of the modern era, history has left its mark here. We're a border city bang in the centre of Europe. Please don't miss the opportunity to visit our friends and neighbours in France and Luxembourg while you are here.

1 Saarbrücken Castle

The existence of Saarbrücken was first documented in 999 under the name “Castellum Sarabrucca”. In the 17th century the castle was rebuilt in the style of the Renaissance, but later destroyed and now only the cellars of this construction remain. In the 18th century Prince Wilhelm Heinrich had his architect Stengel build a new Baroque palace on the same site. Since then the castle has suffered various bouts of destruction and was partially burnt down and reconstructed before being thoroughly and magnificently renovated in 1989. The architect Gottfried Böhm designed a state-of-the-art central block of steel and glass. The castle is now both an administrative centre and a venue for cultural events.

Tip: Visit the exhibition room in the foyer directly beside Tourist Information. An animated film provides information on the history of the castle in three languages.

2 Schlossplatz (Castle Square)— The Baroque Ensemble

The Baroque ensemble enclosing the Castle Square also bears Stengel's trademark. He was instructed to surround the castle with buildings which were similar to it in style. Thus the prince had the so-called Erbprinzenpalais (Hereditary Prince's Palace) built for his son. The Kreisständehaus houses the Museum of Prehistory and Early History and the Old Collection. A recently built glass annex connects it to the museum in the Schlosskirche. Well worth seeing is the staircase with its intricately decorated banisters. In the segment gable of the Altes Rathaus (Old Town Hall) the construction date MDCCL (1750) has been recorded along with a depiction of the Saarbrücken coat of arms. A Baroque onion dome crowns the clock tower. It was destroyed in WWII and rebuilt in 1947; today it houses the headquarters of Saarbrücken's adult education centre. It was devised by Jochen Gerz and students from the local Art Academy in 1993 as an expression of tolerance and a warning against racism: 2,146 flagstones on the way to the castle were dug up and the names of Jewish cemeteries engraved on the back of them before they were replaced.

3 Historical Museum Mile

Old Collection

The Old Collection focuses on the landscape and still-life painting of the 16th and 17th century. Portraits of the princes of Nassau-Saarbrücken and representatives of the steel industry in the Saarland are also on display. The collection also places considerable emphasis on artefacts such as coins, miniatures, silver and porcelain objects and furniture.

Museum of Prehistory and Early History

This collection of archaeological items from the beginning of the Stone Age up to the early medieval era is accompanied by lively and informative texts, models and drawings.

Museum in the Castle Church

The diverse history of the Castle Church, the meaning of liturgy and faith in everyday life from the 13th to 19th century, as well as the development and purpose of sacral art.

Museum of Regional History

An exciting journey through the history of the Saarland from the Middle Ages to the eventful 20th century. The permanent exhibition focuses on two periods:

The recent history of the Saar from 1870

This new permanent exhibition deals with the turbulent recent history of the Saar border region from the Franco-German War of 1870/71 to the end of the 20th century.

The underground castle fortifications and casemates

You can tour the excavated underground fortifications and casemates discovered 14 metres below the Schlossplatz. Let multimedia technology guide you through history, space and time with sound and lighting breathing life into the distant past.

The Saarland Regional History Museum is a wonderful opportunity to experience 500 years of history right before your very eyes. Behold the remains of the mediaeval castle, a 15th century shooting range, fortifications and casemates from the Renaissance, a 17th century Ballhaus (hall for ball games) built in the castle moat and a dungeon from the 18th century: and all of that underground, below the streets of this modern city.

4 Castle Wall

The castle wall, which was moved back 16 metres when the urban motorway was built, provides a beautiful panoramic view of the town. The stone head of the "miserly baker" of St. Johann grimly observes passers-by from the wall next to the stairs leading up to the castle. For several centuries it served as a gargoyle at the Old Bridge.

+49 (0)89 2108333332-04

The Story of the Miserly Baker

It is said that the miserly baker refused to help the poor in times of need, insulted them and encouraged young women to offer him their bodies in exchange for bread. When the margravine heard this rumour she dressed up as a beggar to put him to the test. Naturally he fell for her disguise and was put in the stocks as punishment, dying several days later. An effigy of his head was carved of stone and placed on the Old Bridge to serve as a sewage gargoyle and a warning to others.

5 Schlosskirche (Castle Church)

The steeple of the late Gothic Schlosskirche (Castle Church) dating from the 15th century was given a Baroque crest by Stengel in 1743. After being destroyed in WWII it was restored in the 50's and endowed with elaborate stained-glass windows designed by Georg Meistermann. The sarcophagi of the last princes of Saarbrücken are to be found in the choir. Opening hours: see on page 12.

+49 (0)89 2108333332-03

6 7 Ludwigskirche (Ludwig's Church) and Place

The Ludwigskirche, focal point of a "place royal" architecture, is the indefatigable architect Stengel's masterpiece. It is considered to be one of the most stylistically and aesthetically perfect Protestant Baroque churches in Germany, comparable to the Michel in Hamburg or the Frauenkirche in Dresden. Together with the Ludwigplatz square, the surrounding palace and civil servants' houses, it is part of a unique Baroque ensemble, which was completed in 1775. After being completely destroyed during WWII, the church and palace were meticulously and authentically restored. Looking down Wilhelm-Heinrich-Straße, you have a direct view of the opposite bank of the Saar, a further example of the visual axes typical to Stengel's architecture.

8 Friedenskirche (Peace Church)

This is the first sacred building that Stengel built (in 1743) for the reformed congregation in Saarbrücken. The Old Catholic congregation acquired it in 1892 and has used it ever since as their place of worship. From 2016 to 2021, the transept church was extensively renovated with the help of the urban development project "Barock trifft Moderne" and others.

10 Saarkran (Saar Crane)

The Saarkran (Saar Crane) flanking the Wilhelm-Heinrich-Brücke (Wilhelm Heinrich Bridge) bears witness to Saarbrücken's flourishing trade history. In 1761 it was first constructed by the Krahen-Gesellschaft according to plans drawn-up by Stengel. The arm with the keg and bird has to be restored and was removed in the interests of safety.

+49 (0)89 2108333332-10

11 Alte Brücke (Old Bridge)

The Alte Brücke (Old Bridge), commissioned by Karl V in 1546, is one of the oldest stone bridges in Germany. It connects Alt-Saarbrücken and St. Johann. 8 of the original 14 arches have survived. Destroyed during the Second World War, it has been restored and is one of the most important historical structures in the city.

1 Theatre

The Neo-Classical State Theatre was opened in 1938 with a performance of "The Flying Dutchman". At the time it was the most modern theatre in Europe, but had to be reconstructed after considerable damage during WWII. In 1988/89 the 875-seat auditorium was completely renovated and enlarged. see on page 30

2 Modern Gallery

The Moderne Galerie is one of the leading museums in south-west Germany and houses an outstanding international collection of 20th century painting, sculpture and graphics. Its rooms are bright and defined and express an affinity with nature, one of the primary concerns of both Impressionist and Expressionist artists. The museum was recently extended and now provides an ideal stage for international contemporary art. The Modern Gallery also boasts a spacious sculpture garden on the banks of the river Saar that invites visitors to take a stroll, relax and look at art.

7 Rabbiner-Rülf-Platz memorial site

"The Interrupted Forest" memorial commemorates the murder of Jewish men, women and children in the Saarland during National Socialism. It consists of 40 bronze tree trunks that represent a "forest of remembrance". This is contrasted by a "natural forest" of delicate Japanese pagoda trees planted on the site.

12 St. Johanner Markt (St. Johanner Market Square)

The St. Johanner Markt with its boutiques, bars, bistros and restaurants is the essence of Saarbrücken life. It is an ideal place to meet people or saunter through the picturesque alleys scattered around the market square. Since 1978 the old part of town has been a pedestrian precinct. There is a direct view of the castle from the Baroque fountain (designed by Stengel in 1759), and in the past there was also one of the Baroque church Ludwigskirche, from where you could see right up to the castle again – the so-called Stengel triangle.

13 Fröschengasse

The former craftsmen's and workers' houses in the Fröschengasse were once partly built onto the old town wall. Since 1978 the street has been rebuilt primarily in the Baroque style. Restaurants with idyllic courtyards invite you to linger. High water levels are recorded on the wall at the end of the street (Saarstraße) to remind passers-by of the proximity and perils of the river.

+49 (0)89 2108333332-13

14 Basilika St. Johann

The Basilika St. Johann was erected by Stengel between 1754 and 1758. It has been painstakingly renovated and is now a perfect example of 18th century Baroque beauty: the pope even granted the church the title "Basilica Minor". Not to be missed are the bronze portal and the entrance area. The church organ is particularly striking. It consists of three individual parts, the main organ and the two choir organs. They can be played individually or together. The St. Johann Basilica organ is hence composed of 60 sounding stops and a total of 4,312 pipes. This remarkable and multifaceted instrument is exceptional in both its construction and its tone spectrum and is renowned far beyond the Saarland.

15 Rathaus St. Johann (Town Hall)

Georg J. von Hauberisser, the architect who designed the town halls in Munich and Wiesbaden, was also responsible for the construction of Saarbrücken's Neo-Gothic town hall, which was erected between 1897 and 1900. It is dominated by the 54 m tower, from which the carillon sounds daily at 3.15 pm and 7.19 pm. The authentically preserved façade is decorated with sandstone statues representing the trades of bygone times. There is a miner, a smelter, a farmer, a brewer, a merchant, and a tanner. The significance of the figures of St. George and the dragon is unclear, but they probably represent the battle between good and evil.

19 Bergwerksdirektion (Mining Headquarters)

The administration building of the "Saarbergwerke" (Saar Mining Company), formerly the "Royal Prussian Mining Headquarters", was constructed in 1880 by the renowned architects Martin Gropius and Heino Schmieden in the style of the Florentine Renaissance.

The historical building has been integrated into the EUROPA-Galerie shopping centre with the listed interiors and facade preserved. Original features such as the cast iron staircase, the period tiled floor, the ballroom and the precious leaded stained-glass windows can be admired during your shopping experience.

6 Cultural Centre at the EuroBahnhof (KuBa)

The KuBa in the new quarter at the EuroBahnhof is a place of interdisciplinary artistic exchange. The cultural centre provides a number of ateliers for artists and creative minds, a programme of contemporary art and culture as well as workshops for children and adolescents.

21 Staden

If you are in the mood for a pleasant stroll, it is worth following the Saar in the direction of the Staden, one of the most attractive residential areas of Saarbrücken. The stately villas with park-like gardens which can be admired here date back to the years of rapid industrial expansion in Germany (from 1871). The Saar promenade, seamed by green lawns and punctuated with beer gardens and playgrounds, invites the visitor to relax on long summer days, watching roller skaters, joggers and cyclists on the path along the river.

22 Die Stiftskirche St. Annual

"The urban village" St. Annual is one of the oldest parts of Saarbrücken and a 30-minute walk from the city centre. Houses dating back to the late medieval ages which have retained their authentic charm to this day are clustered around the idyllic market square. The 13th century Gothic collegiate church is amongst the most significant historical monuments in southwest Germany. Up to the 15th century the princes and earls of Nassau-Saarbrücken were buried here and their sepulchres can still be admired today.

24 St Michael's Church

With its two monumental towers, the largest church in Saarbrücken rises above the city skyline. Designed by the architect Hans Herkommer, the striking exterior reflects the architecture of the 1920s. The expressionist design of the interior with the Majolica high altar is well worth seeing. The nearby Echelmeyer Park invites you to stay a while.

World Cultural Heritage – Site Völklinger Hütte (Old Ironworks)

The World Cultural Heritage Site at the Völklinger Ironworks is the world's only completely preserved ironworks from the heyday of industrialisation and was added to the UNESCO World Heritage List in 1994. With its many halls, open spaces and fascinating tangle of piping, the Völklinger Ironworks is a unique venue for international exhibitions, festivals and concerts. Culture is also joined by nature: The paradise that emerged from the erstwhile "hell" of the coking plant is fascinating because the site has been reconquered by nature and a highly diverse flora and fauna.

Theatre and Stage

Saarland State Theatre

1 Main theatre: Großes Haus

The Neo-Classical State Theatre was opened in 1938 with a performance of "The Flying Dutchman". At the time it was the most modern theatre in Europe, but had to be reconstructed after considerable damage during WWII. In 1988/89 the 875-seat auditorium was completely renovated and enlarged.

Alte Feuerwache

With 240 seats, the Alte Feuerwache is the State Theatre's second largest venue and used to be the fire brigade's gymnasium. Primarily plays are put on here, but ballets and concerts are sometimes staged too. Special events include readings in the gallery, introductory events and guest performances.

Shopping in Saarbrücken: Just around the corner

FROM ARTISAN SHOPS TO DEPARTMENT STORES – WONDERFUL SHOPPING OPPORTUNITIES!

REGIONAL HOMEMADE SPECIALITIES and exclusive branded articles from all over the world, small shops and large department stores, an easygoing pedestrian area with a weekly market and a modern shopping mall – Saarbrücken has the lot. And many original, owner-managed shops invite you to take a stroll through alleyways and courtyards. This is effortless shopping.

Shopping in the City of Saarbrücken

... where strolling becomes an experience!

18 Bahnhofstraße

The covered walkways in the cheerfully lively Bahnhofstraße make sure that shopping is fun even on rainy days. Department stores and wellknown shops offer almost boundless shopping possibilities. In the sidestreets you will also find specialist shops offering a broad selection of goods, where friendly shop assistants will be pleased to offer you advice. Some shops are open until 8 pm — even on Saturdays.

12 St. Johanner Markt

The longest shopping mile in the Saarland takes you to the St. Johanner market square with its surrounding side alleys and inner courtyards. Here you'll discover many small shops, galleries, exclusive boutiques and lots and lots of shoes! A stroll across the St. Johanner market square is a must if you really want to get to know Saarbrücken. Friendly cafés, quaint pubs, restaurants with a touch of French flair and terrific shops make it a perfect experience.

More information: see online shopping guide
www.einkaufen.saarbruecken.de

The Kaiserviertel quarter

The pedestrian zone has been extended to include Futterstraße and Sulzbachstraße. This quarter is home to a large number of specialist shops offering high-quality products and services. Fashion, everyday necessities and restaurants — visitors will find all of this here and can also enjoy the weekly “Futtermarkt” market that takes place on Thursdays. Worth mentioning: the Futterstraße is the first “Fair trade street” in Germany.

19 EUROPA-Galerie Shopping Centre

The former Saargalerie and the old Mining Head Office (Bergwerksdirektion) directly in front of the main train station have been converted into the new EUROPA-Galerie shopping centre. By connecting the two buildings, the architects have created space for 110 new fashion and lifestyle retail outlets.

Nauwieser Viertel

Individuals with a passion for all things second hand or looking for that special gift must should visit the “Viertel”. The “Chinesenviertel” (Chinese quarter), as the area surrounding Nauwieser Platz is known in Saarbrücken, is without question the most colourful neighbourhood in the city. Here, you will find organic products and food, clothes and second hand stuff, scene pubs and cafés, art and antiques as well as vegetables from all over the world.

Mainzer Straße district

Mainzer Straße has developed into something of an insider tip in recent years. The area offers an interesting mix of businesses: hip hairstylists, antiques, second hand shops and Asian food. The buildings of this historic quarter date back to the second half of the 19th century and there is a lot to discover at the heart of this quarter and its community.

Nature in Saarbrücken: On your doorstep

FROM PRIMEVAL FOREST TO CASTLE PARK – GREEN URBAN OASES!

A VIRGIN FOREST and a lovingly designed park, ancient orchard meadows and a newly landscaped garden, extensive river floodplains and a secluded river valley: in Saarbrücken, nature with all its wonderful facets is right on your doorstep. Experience nature in the centre of the city and across the entire region, untouched or carefully cultivated. Mother nature at her best.

Parks and gardens in Saarbrücken

Zoological Gardens

The Saarbrücken Zoo was founded in 1932 and is beautifully situated in a former sandstone quarry with an imposing tree population. This is an ideal place to gather energy for everyday life. Come for a visit, relax and enjoy the many attractive animals that have found a wonderful home here. 1,000 animals of 160 species await you!

23 Franco-German Gardens

This circa 50-hectare park provides an ideal opportunity for the whole family to relax and enjoy themselves. A round-trip on the narrow-gauge railway or a cable car trip allows the visitor to get an overall impression of the individual themed gardens. The park can also be explored from the water in a paddleboat. Minigolf and a water playground can be found in the Tal der Jugend (Valley of Youth). There is also a wide choice of cafés and restaurants for big or small breaks.

Im Deutschmühlental
Opening hours: daily
Admission: free, additional fees apply for special events

Directions: 123 bus from central station, 106/107 at Rabbiner-Rülf-Platz
Bus stop: DFG-Süd, DFG-Nord

Castle Garden

The imposing castle gardens were originally laid out in the Baroque style between 1760 and 1765; their terraces used to stretch right down to the Saar. At the end of the 19th century they were partly used for building purposes. Today a smaller yet lively garden with a lovely view of the town still remains.

20 Bürgerpark Hafeninsel

The Bürgerpark is to be found on the site of the former coal harbour. It is decorated with relicts from the coal and iron industry which have been cleverly combined with contemporary elements. Remnants of train tracks and the ruins of former buildings stand side-by-side with a chestnut grove surrounding an amphitheatre, an "antique" water gate or a large circular flowerbed amidst hedged walkways and shrub clusters as well as countless tree-lined walks. And all this is only a few minutes from the city centre.

Staying active in Saarbrücken: Holidays in motion

FROM HIKING TO WELLNESS – KEEP FIT AND HAVE FUN!

HIKING ON SELECTED PREMIUM TRAILS and cycling across the border, boating, rowing and stand-up paddleboarding, swimming lengths or relaxing in the sauna and in the Spa Resort – in and around Saarbrücken, there are endless opportunities to exercise and relax. Whether sport or relaxation, everything revolves around your well-being.

Premium hiking routes close to the city

Premium trails and themed trails promise an exciting day, a wonderful natural experience and the feeling of getting away from it all. In the Saarbrücken region, six trails have been awarded a "Premium Hiking Trail Certificate": the Blies border trail (15 km), the "Ensheimer Brunnenweg" (10 km), the Frohn forest trail (8 km), the Primeval forest tour (8 km), the "Wilder Netzbachpfad" (10 km) and the Warndt forest trail (15 km). As a themed trail, the Karl May Hiking Trail also offers the excellent signposting that makes hiking on premium trails so popular.

The "jungle at the gates of the town"

The "jungle at the gates of the town" is a unique attraction. Over 1,000 hectares of forestland have been allowed to go as wild as nature intended them. A primeval forest, full of adventure with a fairy-tale quality. It is an extraordinary place where visitors and hikers can experience nature.

In the centre you will find the Scheune Neuhaus barn, meeting place and venue for a variety of events concerning forests and nature.

Short hiking trails in Saarbrücken

Saarbrücken is nestled in a magnificent natural setting. You would like to unwind but you don't have enough time for an extended hike? Here are a few tips:

Schwarzenberg Tower

The 48-metre high Schwarzenberg Tower with its 360-degree viewing platform is located in the middle of the Saarbrücker Stadtwald. You have to climb 244 steps to reach the top of the 417-metre high structure, the highest point in this urban forest. Several forest trails from different parts of the city lead up to the tower. From the Schwarzenberg lido, the access road is asphalted and suitable for families with prams.

Gourmets and Saarbrücken: A fine matter of taste

ROM RUSTIC TO MICHELIN STAR-RATED – THE FOOD IS GOOD HERE!

FROM RUSTIC TO MICHELIN STAR-RATED – THE FOOD IS GOOD HERE! HOME COOKING AND HAUTE CUISINE, grilled sausages and veggie burgers, street food and posh restaurants, regional and international dishes, cafés, corner pubs and clubs – you can wine and dine to your heart's content in Saarbrücken. Food lovers are spoilt for choice, and there are many great places to visit if you like to go out and party.

Michelin starred-restaurants

“Food first!” For us good food and drink are the spice of life and a feast for the senses. It is not without reason that the saarland’s cuisine luxuriates beneath a shower of stars.

Saarbrücken is proud to have two of the best addresses for fine dining in Germany.

ESPLANADE

In the gourmet restaurant of the ESPLANADE Boutique Hotel, Chef Silio Del Fabro is waiting to pamper his guests with a modern interpretation of classic French haute cuisine for which he has been awarded two Michelin stars. The Stadtbauernhof Saarbrücken supplies the restaurant with fresh vegetables every day. Selected treasures from the wine cellar are served by Jérôme Pourchère, the charming maître sommelier.

Traditional dishes of the Saarland

The cuisine of the Saarland is very hearty and mainly revolves around the potato. “Dibbelabbes”, “Hoorische” and “Lyoner” are some of the specialities that you will find on many menus.

Here is a brief guide for your next restaurant visit:

Dibbelabbes: Potato hash prepared from raw grated potato and fried with bacon and leeks; usually served with apple sauce or salad.

Gefillte: Potato dumplings filled with minced meat and/or liver sausage. The dumplings are usually served with a creamy bacon sauce and sauerkraut.

Hoorische: Long dumplings made from raw potato, usually served as a side dish.

Geheiratete or Verheiratete: Dumplings made of flour served with potatoes. The dumplings and boiled potatoes are mixed with fried bacon or onions and are usually served with apple sauce or salad.

Lyoner: A ring of sausage that can be prepared in several different ways: grilled, fried in a specially developed “Lyoner pan”, added to a hearty potato soup, diced and fried in the pan etc.
